Smokers Handed A Grim Warning

WASHINGTON (AP)—Smoking cigarettes is a health hazard and that calls for corrective action—and is a major cause of lung cancer and other death-dealing disease, especially in men, a high-level U.S. panel reports today.

In short, the panel indicated, the more you smoke, the greater your risk of an early death.

The 16-man scientific panel—spanning 14 months in its study of available evidence—also found:

1. Cigarette smoking far outweighs all other causes of lung cancer in men—and the data for women points in the same direction.

2. While male cigarette smokers have a higher death rate from heart and blood vessel disease than non-smoking males, it is not clear as yet that this is due to the cause of smoking.

3. Cigarette smoking is a significant cause of lung cancer in the larynx or voice box in men.

4. The risk of lung cancer increases the longer you smoke and the more cigarettes you smoke in a day. It lessens if you quit smoking.

5. Cigarette smoking is the most important cause of chronic bronchitis—the coughing irritation of the bronchial tubes—and increases the risk of death from that disease.

6. Cigarette smoking is related to emphysema, a hardening and growing inefficiency of the lungs. But it cannot as yet be called a cause. However, cigarette smoking is associated with a greater risk of dying of emphysema.

7. For most of the people in the United States cigarette smoking is a much greater cause of chronic disease of the lungs and bronchial airways than is pollution of the atmosphere.

8. Cigarette smoking is a cause of cancer of the mouth, throat, and esophagus.

9. Smoking causes a narrowing of the arteries, which increases the risk of heart disease.

Big Bid To End Panama Crisis

Full-Scale Diplomatic Moves As Death Toll Mounts To 23

PANAMA CITY (AP)—Strong diplomatic efforts were launched today to end the crisis surrounding Panama's demand to break relations with the United States and scrap the 60-year-old Panama Canal treaty.

In the wake of violence that claimed 23 lives—20 Panamanians and three U.S. soldiers—the emphasis shifted to maintaining a state of relative calm.

Jails in the capital city were jammed with Panamanians arrested for looting and causing disturbances.

A peace mission from the Organization of American States arrived from Washington and arranged for immediate conferences with President Roberto Chiari and Foreign Minister Garcia Solis.

President Johnson's special envoys were also at work. U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Thomas C. Mann and Army Secretary Cyrus R. Vance met for an hour and a half Friday night with President Chiari.

NEW SHOOTING
Even as they conferred at the presidential palace new shooting was reported at the Canal Zone border. Panama officials said U.S. troops opened fire.

Only casualties reported were six Panamanians injured by flying glass.

Quiet prevailed in the capital this morning with flags remaining at half-staff and most business offices closed as Panamanians launched on all sides today to continue mourning for the dead.

Tight security precautions were under way for funeral services planned for early next week. A mass national funeral may be held.

Jails were filled in Panama as national guardsmen rounded up looters and other perpetrators of violence. One unofficial estimate said 500 were arrested. U.S. establishments were the major target of demonstrators who caused damage estimated at thousands of dollars.

In the disorders that started late Thursday Panama reported 20 of its citizens killed and hundreds wounded in gunfights with U.S. soldiers. U.S. casualties were listed as three dead and 49 wounded.

The trading erupted after a fight between U.S. and Panamanian students over display of their national banners, but behind the immediate cause is the broader question of sovereignty over the Canal Zone.

Panama demanded at an emergency meeting of the UN Security Council Friday night that the United States give up control of the canal. Aquilino Boyd, the Panamanian delegate, asserted the canal should be either nationalized or placed under international jurisdiction.

Troops Called Out In India After Religious Rioting

CALCUTTA, India (Reuters)—Turbulence which brought government troops into the streets to keep the peace. A 12-hour curfew was clamped on the city tonight as soldiers took up strategic positions.

A government official gave the latest death toll for the disorders.

Unofficial reports also said more than 100 persons have been injured in the disorders in Calcutta and surrounding areas.

The clashes between Hindus and Moslems followed reports of disturbances in the neighboring areas of East Pakistan.

Hindus are in the minority in Calcutta.

The deaths here were reported caused by stabbings and by gunfire from police called out to break up the riots.

Police in the area opened fire at least six times since midnight Friday night to disperse persons attempting to loot and set fire to stores.

A dusk-to-dawn curfew was ordered in several towns to disperse crowds committing arson and violence.

About 500 arrests were reported in the area Friday, 120 of them in Calcutta.

The government has estimated that the wheat deals will mean a saving to the United States of $25,000,000 in storage costs the first year. In addition, there will be less surplus wheat on which the government would have to pay a subsidy and there will be considerable easing of the U.S. balance of payments deficit—the loss of dollars to other nations.

The commerce department issued five licences Friday for $104,000,000 worth of wheat to Russia. Export licences for prospective sales to the Soviet Union alone cover sales of $271,000,000 and satellite countries have bargained for another $29,000,000.

When the prospective deals were first announced last September, Russia and other Communist nations were reported to be seeking 150,000,000 bushels of the grain to make up for poor crops in Russia and eastern Europe.

In addition to the wheat, Hungary, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and East Germany have contracted for sizable purchases of corn and soybeans and more of these transactions may be forthcoming.

Significant Benefits Reported Regarding Mental Contentment

While it found all this and more, the committee also said that the significant benefits of smoking are primarily in the area of mental health—and the habit originates in a search for contentment.

Surgeon General Luther Terry, chief of the U.S. Public Health Service, said in receiving the report.

Out of its long and exhaustive deliberations the committee has reached the overall judgment that cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant remedial action.

While the public health service is not taking the report as its official stand, he said, the report is already under study and the health service will move promptly to decide what remedial measures it should take.

Terry said that if he were a doctor, he would warn his patients against smoking, but if he insisted on doing it he would make sure they realized the health risks involved.

He said federal agencies consider the report to have such significance and importance that he can assure there will be no foot-dragging in deciding on action. However, no special panel is being considered to propose legislative or executive actions.

A lack of bias on the smoking issue was a major consideration in the selection of members of the panel, but their report was sharply critical of the habit.

Other findings:

1. Smoking causes a narrowing of the arteries, which increases the risk of heart disease.

2. There are suggestions that other forms of tobacco use are related to other cancers of the mouth, throat, and esophagus.

3. There is evidence to support the belief that tobacco use is linked to cancer of the stomach, the tube that carries food from the throat to the stomach. But the evidence is not yet strong enough to decide that tobacco is a cause.

The panel also linked cigarette smoking to peptic ulcers, to accidental deaths due to home fires, and to a reduction in size of babies born to women who smoke during pregnancy.

The panel also decided that there was "simply no evidence that filters on cigarettes have had an effect in reducing the health hazard from smoking."

RCMP said the truck, driven by James Johns of Penticton, and owned by a Vancouver firm, was proceeding north towards Vernon when it rounded a curve and skidded on the icy shoulder of the highway causing the unit to jack-knife and slide sideways over the bank.

The rear wheels remained on the highway and prevented the unit from dropping any farther down the almost vertical embankment to the lake. Police said the driver remained inside the vehicle until it was fully stopped before getting out.

RCMP said three wrecking trucks were used to pull the partially loaded truck back onto the highway. Approximately $100 damage was sustained in the accident. No charges are contemplated.

YOUTH 17, Admits Hit-And-Run
VANCOUVER (CP)—A 17-year-old youth surrendered to police Friday for questioning in the traffic death of Mrs. Maria Loxterkamp, 76, killed Wednesday by a car that did not remain at the scene.

The youth, unidentified because he is a juvenile, walked into police headquarters with his father and 18-year-old girlfriend at the same time coroner Glen McDonald was swearing out warrants for the boy and girl as witnesses to the accident.

The pair were at one point the object of a province-wide search.

WANTED — a slogan by the visitor and convention committee of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce. This committee is presenting our readers, writers, would-be writers, school children, parents, grandmothers, in short, everyone with a challenge to come up with a slogan which would explain Kelowna to visitors.

"We want a simple slogan that will encompass the all-year facilities that Kelowna has to offer visitors," said John Dyck, chairman of the committee.

Suggestions should be mailed to Visitor and Convention Committee, Box 308, Kelowna.

The 1964 visitor season is just around the corner. Indeed, it has arrived with skiers and convention visitors presently in town. Who can come up with a slogan that could be used to make this city a byword? It is hoped a solution can be found in January.

Through last summer and fall "Four-Season Playground" has been used and in the opinion of many persons this does describe facilities offered tourists by Kelowna, said Mr. Dyck.

"Other slogans like 'Canada's Apple Capital' and 'Regatta City' are good but they confine Kelowna's activities to a single product or event," he said. "We invite all interested persons to give us their opinion of 'Four-Season Playground' or to suggest an alternative slogan."

Another slogan "Land of Fruit and Sunshine" was put out by B.C. Tree Fruits and

Close Shave For Trucker

VERNON (Staff)—A Penticton truck driver narrowly escaped death Friday when his semi-trailer truck skidded off the highway, five miles south of here, and hung precariously by its rear wheels some 2,000 feet above Kalamalka lake.

The accident occurred at approximately 11 a.m. at the Lookout Point on Highway 97 south of the city.

RCMP said the truck, driven by James Johns of Penticton, and owned by a Vancouver firm, was proceeding north towards Vernon when it rounded a curve and skidded on the icy shoulder of the highway causing the unit to jack-knife and slide sideways over the bank.

Nehru Reported To Be Sicker Than Official Estimates Say

BHUBANESWAR, India—Indications mounted today that Prime Minister Nehru is sicker than official statements have led the Indian public to believe.

A government publicity officer warned that photographs of the 74-year-old Indian statesman will not be permitted when he returns to New Delhi. He has not been photographed since taken ill Tuesday in Bhubaneswar where his ruling Congress party held its annual meeting.

The Times of India reported from Bhubaneswar that there are indications Nehru will have to rest completely for four to six weeks and "reduce the tempo of work considerably, even after he recovers."

The report said Home Minister Gulzarilal Nanda and Finance Minister T. Krishnamachari have been asked to handle Nehru's day-to-day work. Neither man is currently considered a strong possibility as successor to Nehru.

HAD A STROKE?
Nehru's illness has been officially described as high blood pressure and weakness of the left arm and leg. The affliction of the left side has caused speculation that he suffered a mild stroke although some outside doctors say it could be accounted for by an uneven rise of blood pressure on that side.

Nehru's doctors and his daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi were understood to oppose subjecting him to the strain of the flight back to the capital.

They wanted him to rest in this small city in northeast India for a few more days.

Friday, though, reports said Nehru was restive and anxious to get back to work. Informed sources said his doctors were advising a rest of several months.

The judge said Friday: "I regret the excess of the press but it is not under control of the judiciary."

The writ was taken out on grounds of a constitutional violation.

U.S. Once Helped To Create Panama Now More Control Of Canal Sought

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP)—The United States helped create the Republic of Panama early this century to realize the dream of a canal linking the Atlantic and the Pacific oceans. Now the Panamanians are demanding more rights in the canal zone. The United States signed a treaty with Panama in 1903, giving the United States transportation rights across the Isthmus of Panama. Panama then was a province of Colombia. Early this century, the United States began negotiating with Colombia for rights to dig a canal. A 1903 agreement would have ceded these rights, but the Colombian senate rejected it, claiming terms favored the United States. Angry inhabitants of Panama protested the senate action. Nov. 3, 1903, they rebelled and proclaimed their independence. Colombia sent troops into the Caribbean port of Colon to quell the revolt, but encountered a contingent of U.S. Marines from the cruiser Nashville.

Nov. 15, a Panamanian representative was received in Washington and the United States formally recognized Panama's independence. Five days later, the republic and the United States signed the Hay-Bunau-Varilla treaty granting the United States use of the canal zone in perpetuity, along with some extra territorial rights, for a payment of $10,000,000 and a $250,000 annual fee. The United States also got the right to intervene to preserve the independence of the republic and to take control of land needed at any time for the defense of the canal. The 40-mile-long Panama Canal was opened in 1914. It cut 170 nautical miles off the voyage from New York to San Francisco. In 1934, the United States agreed to increase its annual payment to Panama to $400,000 and in 1955 the payment rose to $1,930,000. But as Panama developed, nationalists complained that the

Soviet, Spain May "Shake"

PARIS (Reuters)—Diplomatic contacts aimed at a possible resumption of relations between Russia and Spain began since the 1936-39 Spanish Civil War—have been going on here and in other capitals for some time, usually reliable sources said today. Officials at the Spanish, Soviet and Italian embassies had no comment on reports that the Spanish ambassador, the Count of Montoro, and his Soviet counterpart, Sergei Vinogradov, have had discussions while lunch guests of Italian Ambassador Mario Brosio over the last three years.

Further Cuts Planned In RCAF Home Defence

OTTAWA (CP)—The number of RCAF home defence squadrons reduced to five from nine in 1961, will be cut further to three by mid-year. Associate Defence Minister Carlin announced Friday the CF-101 Voodoo jet interceptor squadrons at Bagotville and Chatham. He said the fifth Voodoo squadron at Comox "will remain as is" and that a small number of aircraft will be used to form a reserve. This will leave squadrons at Chatham, N.B., Bagotville, Que., and Comox, B.C., and a small detachment at Val d'Or, Que.

New Era Of Co-operation Seen For Federal-Provincial Realms

VANCOUVER (CP)—A new build and not destroy, should era of fruitful co-operation between the federal and provincial governments was envisioned today by federal Forestry Minister Nicholson.

In an address to the Canadian Club, the minister said both the federal and provincial governments now recognize that it is essential there should be a much greater degree of co-operation. This was evident from the recent federal-provincial conference. Given the "same spirit of goodwill, friendliness and understanding" evident at that conference, further progress in federal-provincial relations would be made.

Many of the problems facing Canada called for joint federal action but for close, continuing and effective federal-provincial collaboration.

"In this day and age we can no longer live in isolated and neatly separated compartments, either internally or externally," he said.

The period of major adjustment Canada was undergoing had placed stresses and strains on federal-provincial relations.

"What is essential is that we do not lose sight of the fact that these adjustments should be made."

PETER'S PATTERN

with PETER MUNOZ

It seems the drainage situation in the area around Lambert avenue and High road now poses a serious health problem. Residents in the area have been complaining for some time about the water seepage into their basements but the city has continually disclaimed any responsibility for the situation. It appears the source of the trouble was the creation of Lambert avenue which cut off the natural drainage flow along High road to Brant Creek from higher areas up towards Knox Mountain.

Since the drainage was cut off more and more homes have been built in the area causing that much more drainage. Consequently more and more water in basements, as much as 26 inches in the basement of one home.

Lambert avenue, the city of Kelowna maintains, was put through by the Municipality of Glenora before this area became part of Kelowna through boundary extension.

Now it is no longer only the question of water in basements. This seepage, tests by sanitary people have shown, is definitely septic in content, making it definitely a health threat, not just to people in this immediate area but to residents in surrounding areas and possibly to the whole city.

The city has referred the problem to its works committee for study to see if anything can be done. Perhaps a culvert or some method could be worked out enabling drainage of the park and other blocked areas to flow under Lambert avenue down to the creek again. In any case the situation is such that something must be done. The health director's recent report to city council of one case of infectious hepatitis and five cases of salmonella in the general area lends further emphasis to the urgency of a solution.

Instant heat... Just a couple of days prior to Christmas two city smoke shop partners were in the process of readying another of their business enterprises for holiday traffic. They own two ice dispensing machines at opposite ends of the city, which were not in use since the summer season. Now these are large, almost room-sized machines, and to de-ice and ready them for service they walk inside and set up an electric heater.

After the first one was ready, one partner moved on to the next location to work on the other. He set the fan up on a ramp inside and decided to leave the site for a short while... You guessed it... a woman came upon the scene with the purpose of buying some ice... She deposited the necessary coins through the mechanism into operation and what came whirling down the ramp?... The electric heater.

A native son of the Kelowna district, Peter Zadorozny, known in the music world as Pete Dawson, returns to town Monday night to present a copy of his new big-selling LP record "The Friendly Fiddle" to the people of Kelowna... Pete will make the presentation at Monday night's council meeting.

At last report the album, on the London label was ranked third in that label's country and western field. Two of Pete's own compositions are included, Silver Star Special and Polka on a Strand. Guitar accompaniment was supplied by two young brothers, Jim and Jerry Staff, both of whom made a special trip for the recording session to Vernon from Seattle where they are studying.

Pete and his wife Rheta were among Vernon district performers at Friday night's hootenanny at Vernon's new Powerhouse Theatre... The talented fiddler doubles on guitar and five string banjo while Mrs. Z. vocalizes.

BED SITUATION CLARIFIED IN HOSPITAL EXPANSION PLAN

Due to some misunderstanding from news releases on the proposed hospital expansion program, Victor Haddad said today he wished to clarify the situation.

Mr. Haddad, chairman of the Kelowna Hospital Improvement District organizing committee, said the bed capacity at present is 163 made up of 121 in the concrete structure (main building) and 42 in the annex. The annex with its 42 beds is destined for demolition under the new building program and the concrete structure will be renovated. The renovated structure will then contain 50 beds for medical and surgical, 24 for psychiatric and 22 for rehabilitation, making a total of 76 beds plus nine unfinished rehabilitation beds.

The government authorized expansion allows for 228 total beds. This figure, less the 76 in the renovated structure, leaves a total of 152 beds for the new section of the hospital.

There are allotted as follows: medical and surgical 101, maternity 22, children 29. The unfinished includes medical and surgical 34, maternity 10, children 11, plus an unfinished fifth floor of two 37-bed nursing units for a total of 129 unfinished beds. The final projection of the Hospital Improvement District will be 152 authorized beds plus 129 unfinished making a total of 281 beds, said Mr. Haddad. However, we are authorized now for use of 228 beds.

QUEST EDITORIAL

Ex-Sinner, Apostle Paul Knew Power Of Gospel

"For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth, to the Jew first, and also to the Greek."

These are the words from the inspired pen of the Apostle Paul. The book of Romans was written to a people Paul had never seen. Paul was not ashamed because the gospel to him was Christ. He was not ashamed of the eternal Son of God who left heaven's glory and came down to this earth and humbled Himself and died upon the cross. Paul was not ashamed of the gospel because of its power.

What is the Gospel? The gospel is the good news of salvation. But what kind of good news? It is the good news of salvation through the atoning death of Jesus Christ. It is the power of God unto salvation. It is the power of God to save men. It is to save unto the uttermost. Paul said I Tim. 1:15, "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners, of whom I am chief." The apostle counted himself as chief of sinners. He was a persecutor of Christians, a blasphemer. He was a wicked man, but Christ saved him.

Paul was not ashamed of the gospel, for he knew its power. He was not afraid to give it to men everywhere. He had confidence in the power of the gospel to save the vilest of men. He did not hesitate to preach in Ephesus, in Philippi, in Corinth, and he declared that he was ready to preach in Rome.

We need to have this confidence in the gospel's power. Too often we mark people as impossible cases. That brings us to that thought about the gospel's power. It is able, not only to save, to the uttermost, but to transform. I have always liked this verse: II Cor. 5:17, "Therefore if any man be in Christ he is a new creature, old things are passed away, behold all things are become new." This gospel can transform men—drunkards are made sober, impure people are made pure as snow, the dishonest are made honest, the selfish are made unselfish. Zacharias is a notable example. He was a grasping tax collector in Jericho. When Christ saved him, everything was changed. Zacharias made a right about face. He was ready to give half of his goods to the poor, and to restore fourfold that which he had taken from any man by false accusation.

The jailer in Philippi is another illustration of the transforming power of the gospel. After this wicked man was saved, he took Paul and Silas and washed their stripes and was baptized, he and all his house, straightway. What a remarkable transformation took place at once when this man received Christ. The Gospel changes men. It turns them right about face. When I see the transformed lives of men and women, I know that this is not the work of man, but of God.

How does this Gospel power work? This power is brought into operation by faith. John 1:12, "But as many as received him, to them gave he the power to become the sons of God, even unto them that believe on his name." John 5:24, "Verily, verily, I say unto you, he that heareth my word, and believeth on Him that sent me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation, but is passed from death unto life." This scripture makes it clear salvation is instantaneous and complete.

When we speak of instant, complete salvation, we must remember that salvation rests upon the Saviour alone. It is not by works, nor information, but by faith in Christ Jesus, who came into the world to save sinners. The Apostle Paul says, "It works by faith—it works at once—it works to everyone that believeth—to the Jew first, and to the Gentile, to all men everywhere."

The gospel presents the only hope for a lost and sinful mankind. Therefore give it and receive in the opportunity. It brings men into the family of God.

Again I repeat that it is of the very first and final importance that the preacher or teacher of the gospel believe in the bottom of his soul that the simple story, Christ died for our sins, was buried, hath been raised from the dead the third day, and was seen, is the Power of God to salvation to everyone who trusts in Him, who believes. Rev. F. H. Nikkel, Pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, Kelowna.

A Case in Point

At the inaugural meeting of the city council, Magistrate White, before swearing in the new aldermen, commented upon the debt citizens owe the men who handle their municipal affairs. He mentioned that Mayor Parkinson had been on council for 21 years and Alderman Treadgold, who was retiring, had served 17 years.

Magistrate White was right in drawing general attention to the self-sacrifice made by the men who compose the civic government. Their work too often goes unappreciated and, in fact, ignored. They serve; they do their best and then retire unheralded and unsung.

The case of Mr. Treadgold is a good illustration. Seventeen years of conscientious service on behalf of the people of Kelowna. How many hours on city business were crowded into those seventeen years! Mr. Treadgold himself has no idea. Certain it is, however, that had those hours been spent on personal affairs, he would be a much richer man today. How many times did his phone ring? Myriads, we are sure! And how many complaints did he listen to? And generally with patience and understanding. Thousands.

Mr. Treadgold has been a very conscientious alderman in a city which has been blessed generally with conscientious aldermen. If he had one weakness, it was that he was almost too conscientious. He was a worrier. He wanted things done in the best way possible and he worried lest they should not be. This drove him to perhaps more than necessary supervision of his departments, which entailed more work and more time.

But who is there to say he was wrong? He went on the council with the intention of doing his best in public service and to him this meant giving of himself. And this is exactly what he has done over seventeen years.

Mr. Treadgold would have retired, unheralded and unsung, had it not been for Magistrate White's timely remarks. This newspaper is grateful to the magistrate for reminding us of Mr. Treadgold's long and faithful service. We recognized Mr. Treadgold's contribution to city affairs, but being human like the rest of the citizens, we were prone to just take it for granted. We are happy to add our small voice to that of the magistrate in appreciation of Mr. Treadgold's civic services, and to express the hope that after a rest, Mr. Treadgold will feel impelled to return to the civic arena where good use can be made of his enthusiasm and abilities.

In Passing

A lot of stress these days is being put on the dangers of stress.

An octogenarian says he likes fall and winter much better than spring and summer because he can drink his before-supper toddy earlier.

Some people give these as their reasons for not liking folk songs: the lyrics are nonsensical; the tunes, unmusical.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Savage Headaches Can Be Stopped

By JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What could cause severe pain, mostly on the right side of the head? I feel as though there is pressure. The pain frequently makes my eyes water. I also have dizziness. —MRS. M.

One possibility is "tension headache" or "sinus headache." This is a one-sided headache, usually accompanied by heavy, feeling of tears in the eye on that side. This type of headache frequently occurs at night. Demonstration with histamine helps.

There is also a one-sided headache, the migraine, which tends to bother a person who is inclined to dizziness, the headache, causing vertigo.

For this type of headache, the treatment is entirely different.

LETTER TO EDITOR

SCHOOLS' ANNIVERSARY

As the Central elementary school's 50th anniversary approaches, some clarification seems to be called for so that the public may fully understand the committee's plans for the celebration. It is to take the form of an afternoon open house and an evening re-enactment of the official 1914 opening ceremonies. Full details will be published in the Saturday or Monday Courier as finalized by the committee at Friday's meeting.

The purpose of this celebration is to give ALL past students of the school an opportunity to re-visit the school and to meet their classmates of former years. A blanket invitation will be extended to them next week through the press, radio, and TV.

The committee early last spring set itself the task of trying to find the addresses of all living members of the classes that moved into the school in 1914. All past teachers, officials and school trustees and to send a printed invitation to each of these.

With the help of your readers we have been very successful. Invitations have gone out to just over 200 of the 250 original students, 13 teachers, 28 trustees and three district superintendents. The addresses of all these people will be available at the celebration for those who wish to contact old friends.

An outline was incomplete, some of these people may have been mislaid so the committee requests any such persons to please write or phone their addresses to the school so that their invitation can be sent at once.

We would also like to receive more pictures, text-books, etc. of all years from 1914 to the present.

Yours truly,
J. E. GREENAWAY,
Chairman
50th Anniversary Committee

DOOR SHUTS ON STATUS SYMBOL

OTTAWA (CPI)—For a considerable number of years, Ottawa's chief status symbol has been the green baize doors of the Parliament buildings.

The baize is supposed to muffle sounds so that private office conversations don't become the property of passing eavesdroppers.

Imagine, then, the consternation among the insiders behind the green baize doors at the recent redecoration of the second floor of the east block of the Parliament buildings.

The green baize on second-floor doors has been replaced by a peach-pink leatherette. Peach-pink leatherette probably doesn't sound like much of a status symbol—except for one thing.

The second-floor offices of the east block are occupied by Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin and their chief aides.

Whether other cabinet ministers, deputy ministers and assistant undersecretaries who occupy the seats of power will aspire to—and attain—the symbolic pinnacle of a leatherette door isn't clear yet.

The works department holds the purse strings for redecoration and it hasn't yet indicated the amount left, if any, in its leatherette fund.

Dear Dr. Molner: My nine-year-old son suffered frostbite of the scrotum from playing in the snow too long. Will this make him sterile? My doctor says he doesn't think so at this age.—MRS. A.D.

I, too, doubt that it will cause sterility. The frostbite was of the skin covering, rather than of the testicles themselves.

Dear Dr. Molner: When one doesn't inhale cigarette smoke, can it cause a cough and draining from nose or sinus?—MRS. N.P.

There's no such thing as not inhaling. To some degree, cough, there will be less irritation if you do not deliberately inhale.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have frozen some green beans, carrots and other fruits and vegetables. Is there danger of being poisoned by any of them?—B.C.

Not if you froze them properly. They should be cleaned before freezing, and then frozen as quickly as possible. KEEP them frozen until you are ready to use them.

Thawing and refreezing permit the growth of bacteria during the warmer periods.

When you are ready to use the vegetables, thaw, then cook them.

Most food poisoning cases can be traced to (a) inadequate cooking or (b) letting food sit at ordinary temperatures, or in a warm place. You can't beat an old rule for safe food: Keep it hot, keep it cold, or don't keep it!

LOOKING BACK WITH OLD STAGER

Politics Pick Up After New Year's

By ART GRAY

With the advent of a new year the interest in local municipal politics began to pick up in 1914, and speculation on aldermanic candidates and school board members became an important topic of conversation.

There was not much talk about mayoralty candidates, for Mayor J. W. Jones had given no hint of retiring, and no legal aspirant could be found willing to oppose him. The annual municipal meeting held on the second Saturday in January, brought things to a boil, and there was a large turnout of citizens, including a number of voteless ladies, filling the hall in the Rayner Block.

Mayor Jones opened the meeting by inviting David Leskie to take the chair, which he did amidst applause. He announced that there would be a 10-minute limit on all speeches (applause), and then made another change in procedure, calling on the school board to take over the meeting first, instead of being last and left to conduct their business with a handful of people and rows of empty chairs, as had been the case the year before.

J. A. Bigger, chairman of the school board, expressed his appreciation and noted that this was the first time in the history of municipal meetings this had happened. Chief item of interest, of course, was the completion of the new 10-room brick public school on Richter St. In presenting the financial statement he gave the final cost of the structure as $90,000. He estimated that it would take over $10,000 to run the Kelowna schools during the coming year, savings from the listening taxpayers, due to the phenomenal increase of school population from 200 to 400 approximately, in the past year. There had been a number of children of school age not attending, and the hiring of a "truant officer" was made necessary, an action for which the board had been criticized. (Not all the critics were voters; many critics could be found amongst the schoolboy population.)

Next came Aid. Copeland, who struck a humorous note when he expressed his disappointment at the 10-minute limit for speakers, which meant that he would be unable to deliver the three-hour speech that he had so carefully prepared.

The audience laughed, for they knew, and so did he, that the restriction came as a result of his own extremely long discourse at the meeting the year before.

As chairman of the public works committee he gave some figures that were interesting in comparison with today's expenditures. The sum of $1,264 had been spent on Bernard Avenue in 1913, and sidewalk marketings had cost $174, which he said seemed high, but was due to so much old wooden sidewalk becoming rotten and needing repairs.

One item not found in present day accounts, was $86 for "street watering." Street lighting costs were $1,500, and the largest item, $2,900 for widening Pender street, was most regrettable in due course, under the local improvement plan. He concluded by complimenting F. Swanson, street foreman, for his services to the city.

Next speaker was Aid. Calder, chairman of the light and water committee, who, after using up most of his 10 minutes reporting on his department, slashed out at alleged extravagance in the new sewerage installations. The audience, sensing fireworks, readily agreed to his request for more time, and he went on to claim that no tenders had been called for materials used, and that the contractors, Canavan and Mitchell, had made undue profits by their 10 per cent commission on cost.

Other charges included the claim that large quantities of pipe were on hand, with no prospect of immediate use, on all of which the contractors had been paid 10 per cent.

Aid. F. A. Taylor, chairman of the sewage commission rose to reply, and the audience looked for an explosive battle, but, in his usual languid, offhand manner, Taylor calmly refuted most of the charges, and was later supported by Aid. Sutherland and Mayor J. W. Jones, and the fireworks spluttered out.

NEXT WEEK: 1914 Civic Elections.

Passing from school affairs to municipal business, the meeting heard Alderman J. N. Thompson report that little had been done to improve the city parks, due to lack of funds, the total money available being $2,000, most of which had been expended on the recreation grounds. He was not offering himself for re-election, he stated, so would make his audience a present of the balance of his allotted time of 10 minutes.

He then sat down, amidst laughter and applause. Aid. Owens, chairman of the building and fire protection committee, stated that an estimated half million dollars worth of new buildings had been put up in the city, and suburbs of Woodlawn, Bankhead and Lakeview. He urged more equipment be bought for the fire brigade.

Next came Aid. Copeland, who struck a humorous note when he expressed his disappointment at the 10-minute limit for speakers, which meant that he would be unable to deliver the three-hour speech that he had so carefully prepared.

Canada's Image 'Blurred Abroad'

MONTREAL (CP)—W. H. R. R. McLaughlin, chairman of the Board of directors of the Royal Bank of Canada, said today the Canadian image at home and abroad has been blurred and distorted by the government's policy of "managed capitalism."

Mr. McLaughlin, in his address to the 35th annual meeting of the bank's shareholders, said the government's policy of "managed capitalism" has blurred the Canadian image at home and abroad. He said the government's policy of "managed capitalism" has blurred the Canadian image at home and abroad.

Mr. McLaughlin also recommended removal of tax disincentives such as the double taxation of dividend income. He said the government's policy of "managed capitalism" has blurred the Canadian image at home and abroad.

Opening lead—queen of diamonds.

Many a contract depends upon how the cards are divided in a particular suit.

For example, consider this hand where South is in six no-trump. Declarer can count 11 winners after West makes the opening lead, and his only chance of making a twelfth trick lies in bringing home four club tricks instead of three.

Ordinarily, for this to take place, declarer would have to find the clubs divided 3-3. But, in the actual case, South should make his four club tricks and the slam, even though it turns out that the clubs are divided 5-1. Moreover, he should accomplish this feat without the benefit of seeing the East-West hands.

Declarer wins the diamond lead with the king and plays the ace and continuing with the jack of diamonds.

South wins with the ace, East discarding a spade. At this point declarer has no idea how the clubs are divided and how he will eventually fare, but, in order to learn as much as he can about the composition of the adverse hands, he cashes four heart tricks.

This sheds a lot of light on the matter because West shows up with four hearts, which, added to the six diamonds and the ace of spades West has already shown up with in the play, accounts for 11 of his original 13 cards.

When South now leads a spade to the jack and West follows suit, he learns that West could not possibly have been dealt more than one club.

Accordingly, he cashes the king of clubs, West playing the ten, and then leads a club from dummy. If East follows with the seven, declarer fineses the line in bringing home four club tricks instead of three, since West can have no more clubs.

It does not help East to play the nine instead of the seven, since South can take it with the queen and return to dummy with a spade for another club lead through East's J-7.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Sunday should prove to be a busy day socially. The stars indicate congeniality in personal relationships and group activities. Pursuits and group activities generally. If you haven't anything definite on your calendar, get busy and make some interesting plans for yourself.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that all your energies and talents should be under fine stimuli now and, though results of your efforts may not be immediate, the manner in which you use your many skills within the next two weeks will have a great influence upon the attainment of ultimate goals. With the exception of March and early August, both for financial and prospects look excellent over the long run, with especially good boosts along these lines indicated during the first half of February, early March, mid-April, the first week in May, late June, September and October. Look forward, therefore, and start planning now for the fine success which can be yours within the next year.

Personal, domestic and romantic matters should prosper for most of this new year in your life, but do try to avoid friction in close circles in late April and early August. Mid-1964 should be highly stimulating, socially, but try not to overdo things, thereby inviting fatigue.

A child born on this day could be highly successful in the legal field, would also make an excellent writer.

THE DAY AFTER TOMORROW

Patience and tact will be needed in dealing with others on Monday. Many persons will be on the touchy side, so your best bet will be to exercise caution with everybody. With this fact in mind, you can go ahead with your plans and have a satisfactory day.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If Monday is your birthday, the next 12 months should see many of your goals realized—especially those dealing with occupational advancement and financial betterment. Besides many good periods in the interim, there is a strong likelihood that in September and/or October unexpected opportunities, properly handled, could materially affect your future.

Home and family interests will be under generally good aspects during most of the year to come and, in mid-year, you will find yourself in an exceptionally stimulating period where social matters are concerned. New and valuable contacts made then (also in November) could develop into something worthwhile if you are amenable. Avoid extravagance, speculation and emotionalism in late April and early August.

A child born on this day will be studious, practical and exceptionally adept as an organizational worker.

Rocky Blasts Goldwater

WASHINGTON (AP)—Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York moved his campaign for the U.S. presidency into the U.S. capital today after a New Hampshire blow, in which he charged that Sen. Barry Goldwater underestimated the danger of Communism to the United States.

The New York Republican, in one of his strongest anti-Communist declarations, asserted that Communists "believe they can dominate the entire world." "Free nations will be safe, he said, only when the last vestige of Communism is wiped off the face of the earth."

Goldwater ended his statement by stating that the Communist threat is "something we don't have to worry about." Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller's remarks were in a speech to the members of the Brooklyn Council of the Sons of the American Revolution at Manhattan.

Rockefeller and Goldwater are competing for Republican delegates in the New Hampshire presidential preference primary March 10.
